CONSOLATION CHAT.

Frank Elam and two of his boys have been doing some clearing for Ed Cecil.

Ed F. Cecil swapped a span of mules to John Brewer for a three-year-old filly and $120.

Flave Cecil spent Saturday and Sunday at the home of Joe Lee Oldfield and family, at Mize.

I notice that Arlie Cecil is in the ring of fence builders. He is improving his place from away back.

The moving of the big sawmill from Ed Cecil's place to Columbus Gillaspie's was awarded to G. W. Oldfield & Sons.

Hiram Blankenship's little boy, Bruce, one of the triplets, is very low with pneumonia and is not expected to live.

Joe Lee Oldfield, of Mize, recently bought a tract of land near his place from Clay Murphy. Private consideration.

Mrs. Josie Blankenship and son, of Holly, spent the past week at the bedside of W. H. Blankenship, who is afflicted with lagrippe.

Flave Cecil took in the Ellie Oldfield moving picture show at the Mize school house Saturday night, and reports it a fine entertainment.

The Drake of Consolation will try his luck with J. E. Oldfield at farming near Daysboro. Such a team as this ought to have corn to burn next fall.

Widow Sparks and family disembarked from Noah's Ark, at Hazel Green, and found dry land in a cottage on Clay Cecil's farm. The moving occurred Saturday.

Miss Ethel Cecil has just finished beautifying the fence around her home with lime, etc., using one of Uncle Sam's paint brushes. The writer attempted to help but was only in the way.

In answer to Ethel, of Cannel City: Poet always hangs out his shingle where there is a chance to catch any news for THE HERALD, the ideal paper of the mountains, as he is always prying into the world of gossips.

Willie T. Blankenship made his usual Sunday trip to the beautiful village of Daysboro it being his fortieth consecutive trip without change. Some think he is looking for new fields to conquer, but he prefers an Oldfield.

March 22. DOMINGO.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local application, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circular free.

March 22. ANON.

Save This, Anyway.

Here is a simple home-made mixture as given by an eminent authority on kidney diseases, who makes the statement that it will relieve almost any case of kidney trouble if taken before the stage of Bright's disease. He states that such symptoms as lame back, pain in the side, frequent desire to urinate, especially at night; painful and discolored urination, are readily overcome. Here is the recipe. Try it:

Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Take a teaspoonful after each meal and at bedtime.

A well-known druggist here in town is authority that these ingredients are all harmless and easily mixed at home by shaking well in a bottle. This mixture has a peculiar healing and soothing effect upon the entire Kidney and Urinary structure, and after overcomes the worst forms of Rheumatism in just a little while. This mixture is said to remove all blood disorders and cure the Rheumatism by forcing the Kidneys to filter and strain from the blood and system all uric acid and foul, decomposed waste matter, which cause these afflictions. Try it if you aren't well. Save the prescription.

KENTUCKY NEEDS TEACHERS

State Superintendent Crabbe has Issued the Following List of Examinations for 1909.

The recent enactment of the State Legislature which provides for the establishment of one or more County High Schools in each county of the State, will increase the existing scarcity of teachers. In numerous counties of the State many of the public schools have been without teachers for two years past and the demand for High School teachers will increase the scarcity. There is a splendid field in Kentucky and a great opportunity for trained teachers.

All persons must be examined and interested parties should write to the County Superintendent of Schools or the Department of Education. Teachers in the rural schools are elected on the last Saturday in June, July and August. A list of the State examinations with dates follow:

- Common School Diploma, White and Colored May 14-15.
- County Certificate, White, May 21-22.
- County Certificate, Colored, May 28-29.
- County Certificate, White, June 18-19.
- State Certificate, White, June, 18-19.
- County Certificate, Colored, June 25-26.
- State Certificate, Colored, June 25-26.
- State Diploma, White, and Colored, June 30.
- County Certificate, White, July 16-17.
- County Certificate, Colored, July 23-24.
- County Superintendent qualification, July 30-31.
- County Certificate, White, August 20-21.
- State Certificate, White, August 20-21.
- State Diploma, White and Colored, August 25.
- County Superintendent qualification, August 27.
- County Certificate, White, August 27-28.
- State Certificate, Colored, August 27-28.

This list covers all the examinations for the year 1909. Special examination will be authorized.

Kentucky at the A.-Y.-P. Exposition.

Seattle, March 18.—The state of Kentucky evidently realizes that the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition, to open at Seattle, June 1, will be an excellent means of advertising, for the governor has appointed a commission to arrange for participation at the Pacific exhibition and the Blue Grass state will be well represented. This was encouraging news to thousands of former Kentuckians, now residents of Washington, Oregon and California who desire to see their native state represented in some manner at the exposition.

Kentucky is following the lead of several eastern and middle-western states in this matter and when the exposition opens in a couple of months this grand old southern state will be there with flying colors and will join with the western states in extending a welcome to the world at large on the shores of the Pacific.

Kentucky will have no need to be ashamed of representation at Seattle for the exposition has long ago been pronounced as one of the most beautiful ever planned and it will be ready a month before the opening date. This is a very safe statement to make since the exposition as a whole is now more than ninety per cent complete and there still remains two months to add the finishing touches.

The United States government will have more space at Seattle for exhibits than any exposition held in recent years, not excepting the great fairs at St. Louis and Chicago. The government structures are fast nearing completion and Uncle Sam will have separate buildings in which to house the displays from Alaska, Hawaii and the Philippines. The main building will show the exhibits from the various departments at Washington and other buildings will be used by the government fisheries and the biograph department.

Among the larger state buildings on the grounds will be the handsome structures erected by Oregon, Washington, California and New York. Canada has a magnificent building and the Grand Trunk railroad a dignified looking structure near by. The auditorium, fine arts, machinery hall, forestry building, Artie Brotherhood and the woman's buildings are permanent structures to revert to the University of Washington. The manufactures, mines, fisheries, foreign palace, oriental building as well as the group of government buildings form the main picture of the exposition and surround the cascade and geyser basin, the main oriental features of the fair. The majority of the buildings were finished three months ago and the structures now in the course of construction will be complete in several weeks. The landscaping of the grounds is progressing and every street and walk has been paved with asphalt.

The amusement street at the exposition is called the Pay Streak and there will be assembled some of the greatest shows in the history of the amusement world. The department of special events has set aside July 30 as Kentucky Day, when it is proposed to have as many native Kentuckians possible assemble on the exposition grounds to do credit to their state. Appropriate addresses will be made and a special program carried out.

The exposition is now so near complete that every building will be finished and every exhibit in place before the opening day and the exhibition will go down in history as the crowning enterprise of the city of Seattle, and a credit to the whole Pacific Coast.

Misery in Stomach.

Why not start now—today, and forever rid yourself of Stomach trouble and indigestion? A dieted stomach gets blues and grumbles. Give it a good eat, take Pape's Diapiesin to start the digestive juices working. There will be no dyspepsia or belching of Gas or eruptions of undigested food; no feeling like a lump of lead in the stomach or heartburn, sick headache and Dizziness, and your food will not ferment and poison your breath with nauseous odors. Pape's Diapiesin costs only 5 cents for a large case at any drug store here, and will relieve the most obstinate case of Indigestion and Upset Stomach in five minutes.

There is nothing else better to take Gas from Stomach and cleanse the stomach and intestines, and besides, one triangule will digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all your food the same as a sound, healthy stomach would do it.

When Diapiesin works, your stomach rests—gets itself in order, cleans up—and then you feel like eating when you come to the table, and what you eat will do you good. Absolute relief from all Stomach Misery is waiting for you as soon as you decide to begin taking Diapiesin. Tell your druggist that you want Pape's Diapiesin, because you want to be thoroughly cured of Indigestion.

To Freshen Bread.

When a large quantity of home-made bread has been baked at one time, some of it, if kept long, is sure to become hard and unappetizing. This can be made as good as new by a very simple method. Dip the loaf in cold water, put it in a pan in the oven, and bake until it is heated through. After it has been taken out wrap it in a damp cloth, and when cold it will be quite as good as when first baked.

If hot bread is desired for breakfast the above method may be used for reheating. Bread, muffins and rolls reheated in this way are just as appetizing and are said to be more healthful than freshly-baked hot breads. Certainly less time and trouble are necessary to serve hot bread by this method than to mix and bake it fresh.—Farm and Fireside.

CAMPTON CURRENCY.

Kelly Kash, of Jackson, visited his parents here Thursday.

Dr. A. C. Nickell, of Hazel Green, was in our town Tuesday on business.

A. C. Kash, who has been confined to his bed for the last few weeks, is improving nicely.

Miss Sallie Hurst, who has been visiting friends at Lexington for some time, returned last Thursday.

Ely Kash has returned home from Lexington where he was taking a business course in the Smith Business College.

Misses Nancy and Sarah Sample, of Hazel Green, were visiting their brother, Stephen Sample and wife, Saturday and Sunday.

Dr. D. H. Kash, one of the leading physicians of town, will move to Jackson Wednesday, where he will continue the practice of medicine. We are sorry to part with Dr. Kash, although if he can do better at Jackson that's the place for him.

An Inexpensive Trial.

Just a big handsome magazine 10x15 inches with from forty to sixty pages each month. You'll want to read every line, too, in each issue because they are full of human interest. You have sentiment in your choice of this Magazine also because it was founded by Joel Chandler Harris, and will be kept clean, sweet and wholesome always.

Julian Harris, eldest son of Joel Chandler Harris, is editor, and you will like the snap and ginger of the Magazine, and its features unlike any other. A widely appealing Magazine from every viewpoint, abounding in the best of everything—stories, articles, illustrations, home department, fashions, poems, wit and humor, comprehensive science and powerful editorials.

Think of this most liberal of offers we are authorized to make. Write to Uncle Remus's—The Home Magazine, Atlanta, Ga., saying you saw the offer in this paper, to send their Magazine three months on trial.

If at the end of three months you do not want it longer you pay nothing, and the publication is stopped; but if satisfied you send them $1.00, paying for the Magazine received and for nine months more. When you are ready to pay they have some splendid premiums with dollar subscriptions.

Address now Uncle Remus's—The Home Magazine, Atlanta, Ga.

Often The Kidneys Are Weakened by Over-Work.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

Weak and unhealthy kidneys are responsible for much sickness and suffering, therefore, if kidney trouble is permitted to continue, serious results are most likely to follow. Your other organs may need attention, but your kidneys most, because they do most and should have attention first. Therefore, when your kidneys are weak or out of order, you can understand how quickly your entire body is affected and how every organ seems to fail to do its duty.

If you are sick or "feel badly," begin taking the great kidney remedy, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root. A trial will convince you of its great merit.

The mild and immediate effect of Swamp-Root, the great kidney and bladder remedy, is soon realized. It stands the highest because its remarkable health restoring properties have been proven in thousands of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle free, also a pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, and don't let a dealer sell you something in place of Swamp-Root—if you do you will be disappointed.

THINKING OF MOVING WEST?

If not, then make up your mind and write me for descriptive list of farms in Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma. All fine, level, productive land that will grow anything under the sun, at prices ranging from $15 to $40 an acre, and come where life is made tolerable by easy, profitable farming. Why sweat and fret life away in the vain effort to eke out a mere miserable sustenance from the rock-ribbed, root-laced hillsides as your father and father's father did, when there is so much good land to be had yet awhile for a mere song? Get out of the rut—break away from the time-worn habit that keeps your nose to the grindstone. All it takes is resolution and a little nerve. Write me, and let me help you to a better condition.

THE HERALD.

Mesdames Oscar Fallen and Boone Oldfields, of Daysboro, visited friends in town Friday.

Misses Nancy and Sarah Sample visited their brother, Stephen Sample, at Campton, Sunday and Monday.

Mrs. Charley Sample, of Maytown, came up Monday to visit her sister, Mattie Rose, who is quite ill.

Judge G. T. Center was a guest of C. F. Kash Sunday night, and left Monday morning for Lee City on legal business.

Sheriff John Will Cox passed through town Monday, en route to Lee City to serve some papers on a writ of delivery.

S. F. Reynolds has moved his saddle and harness shop from the Day property to the room next to Kash, Johnson & Kash.

Jim Combs, of Lacy creek, has the thanks of the editor and his better seven-eighths for a fine mess of fresh mountain oysters.

Jolly John Murphy, of Murphy fork, has the thanks of the editor and his better seven-eighths for a fine mess of pork sweetbreads.

Joe Lee Wilson has rented his farm on Red river, near Amyx school house, and rented a farm from Ellis Johnson, on Lacy creek.

Miss Katie Galt Miller, of Louisville, who has been visiting her sister, Miss Florence, of H. G. A. faculty, left for her home Friday.

If you have any saddles or harness that need repairing take them to S. F. Reynolds and see how neatly and cheaply he can do the job.

Miss Roxie Daniel, accompanied by her aunt, Mrs. Lucy McGuire, left for Morehead Friday for an extended visit with her grandfather.

Miss Lou Ward returned Monday from Louisville, where she had been to place the three Edwards children in the orphan's home.

Dr. A. C. Nickell left for Winchester Tuesday, accompanied by Mrs. Boone Oldfields, whom he takes there for a medical examination.

ONIONS WANTED—Any farmer having a bushel or two of good sound onions to dispose of can find a ready buyer by calling at THE HERALD office.

Curt Rose, representing Watts, Ritter & Co., Huntington, W. Va., with his wife and child, of Jackson, visited his parents here the first of the week.

Charley Rose, the hustling stock trader, was so indisposed the first of the week that a $100 yoke of young steers would not have interested him at half price.

For Sale—Two of the Pieratt cottages for less than the lumber and lot can be bought. One acre in each lot; five rooms in each house. Apply at this office.

Got a Ducking.

Some of our citizens were fishing in Red river Thursday last, including Mesdames Emma Evans and Ada Kash. The editor of this paper stepped upon the edge of the bank, where the high water had washed under, and in he went up to his arm pits. He had nothing to hold to, his back being towards the bank, and as he could not touch bottom he was in a precarious position, to say the least, when the ladies named rushed to his assistance and heroically rescued him at imminent peril to their own personal safety. When he shot in feet foremost Mrs. Kash, who was within 20 or 30 feet was the first to scream. She caught him by one shoulder and Mrs. Evans by the other and pulling manfully, or womanfully, they pulled him out. Persons nearby heard Mrs. Kash say, "Pull, Emma, pull," and Mrs. Evans replied, "I am pulling as hard as ever I can, but I have no place to brace myself and he is awfully heavy," (151 pounds.) While it was fun for the ladies they were scared all the same, and as the rescue was at their own risk, we insist that they should be awarded a Carnegie medal, as they already have our sincere thanks.

Card of Thanks.

The Lady Macabees of our town, of which my beloved wife was a devoted member, met at my residence Saturday afternoon last and did some much needed sewing for my motherless children, for which they have the thanks of my children and myself, individually and collectively. Through THE HERALD I wish to assure the ladies composing the party that I shall ever hold them in grateful remembrance and if possible at any time in some way prove my faith by reciprocating the kindness.

ELLIS JOHNSON AND CHILDREN.

A Falsehood Nailed.

In contradiction of the rumor that Hazel Green Academy has gone under we hear from authentic sources that by actual count there are twenty-two more students in actual attendance than ever before at this time of year. With this fact in view it is hard to tell what the motive for circulating such an uncalculated statement could have been. Anyhow every friend of the school can say on authority of THE HERALD that the statement is absolutely false, to use no more strenuous term.

Will Sue Wolfe County.

W. B. Culbertson, the gentleman who was crippled in the Spradling bridge disaster a year ago, has brought suit against the county of Wolfe for $3,000 damages. Since the accident he has been disabled and is now only able to get around on his crutch and cane. The only question in the case is whether or not the bridge had been properly condemned with due notice of the fact. From evidence adduced so far it seems that Mr. Culbertson has a case.

Again we wish to remind our correspondents that their manuscripts MUST reach this office not later than Monday evening, and that all communications for publication should be addressed "THE HERALD, Hazel Green, Ky." and not to any individual, else they may be overlooked.

PINE BLUFF PIE.

Mrs. John Ratliff is on the sick list.

Mrs. John E. Henry is still confined to her room.

Miss Ada Henry was visiting at Pine Bluff Sunday.

Walter M. Henry was in this section one day recently.

Farming seems to be the order of the day in this section.

Jess C. Henry made a business trip to Cannel City Monday.

Timber men have had some fine times to get their timber off.

Mrs. Wm. Patrick, of Notty, is visiting relatives at Pine Bluff.

Everett Ratliff was the guest of Miss Alice Henry at Pine Bluff.

Dan McKinsey, a timber man was in this neighborhood recently.

Jess C. Henry, who has been laid up with rheumatism, is able to be out again.

Vance Arnett, a pipe line man, passed through this section one day last week.

J. D. Youcum and wife were visiting with James R. Henry and family Sunday night.

Mrs. Naunie Cox and son, Jacob Oldham, and Miss Fannie Henry spent Monday evening with Mrs. John Cox.

March 22. UNCLE ZIP.

"Kentucky Arbor and Bird Day 1909" is the title of one of the handsomest and most interesting pamphlets sent out by any of the state departments. It is compiled by Mrs. J. G. Crabbe, wife of State Superintendent Crabbe, and replete with useful and interesting information for both teachers and pupils in the public schools. We hereby acknowledge receipt of one through courtesy of State Superintendent Crabbe.

Some person or persons have circulated a report that the Hazel Green Academy faculty has been dismissed, all the scholars gone home and the principal resigned. It is impossible to tell who started this slander or the object in doing so. But there is no foundation in fact for it, as the school is now in a more prosperous condition than it ever was before at this time of the year.

Friday night last, at West Liberty, Mrs. Lou Dyer was robbed of the sum of $18. Two young men, one of them, her own son, called Cudgel Dyer, and Leroy Peyton, a son, as we hear it, of ex-Jailer Peyton, are accused of the crime, and as we have learned they have disappeared, things look suspicious against them.

The Hazel Green Ball Team need some money to buy bats, balls, etc., and every business man in town should contribute something. It is indeed a blind man who cannot see that a good ball team brings money to the town. Strangers come to see the game, and seven out of ten will spend some money.

Married, Thursday of last week, at the residence of the bride's parents, Supt. W. H. Chambers and wife, on Stillwater, Roscoe Wells and Miss Carrie Chambers. Mr. Wells is a merchant there, and Miss Carrie was until recently a student at the academy here.

J. F. Heinrich, the enterprising poultry merchant at Helechawa, has again placed us under obligations to him for a bountiful mess of those delightful rooster sweetbreads, for which he has the thanks of the editor and his better seven-eighths.

Crockett Rose, who recently married Miss Maud Hurst, has recently embarked in housekeeping on the Miles Wilson farm, on Lacy creek, the property of his father, Jeff M. Rose. The young folks of the neighborhood gave them a pounding.

Miss Falay Long, the milliner, is in receipt of a large part of her notions, dress skirts, and a lot of underwear. Her millinery property has not yet arrived, but for all that she has done a large business in the past few days.

Read Cecil Bros. new Spring ad in another column, then call on them and see how cheap they are selling.

KENTUCKY KERNELS

Carefully Collected and Concisely Chronicled.

Governor Willson has declared himself as against statewide prohibition and says he will not call an extraordinary session of the legislature to take action.

The little five-year-old son of Ira Berry, living in Mason county, while running across the dooryard, tripped and fell, breaking his neck and killing him instantly.

Mrs. Margaret Lawrence, aged 80 years, was burned to death at her home in Boyle county last Friday. Her eight-year-old grandson was badly burned in trying to save her.

The Court of Appeals has affirmed the $10,000 fine assessed by the Franklin Circuit court against the Indian Refinery company, of Georgetown, for polluting the waters of Elkhart creek with refuse from their refining plant.

Night riders are again beginning their dastardly work in the tobacco districts. In Nicholas county they are sowing grass seed and wheat in the tobacco beds, and in Caldwell and Christian counties the same state of affairs is said to exist.

Great excitement was caused at a revival in the Methodist church, in Brodhead, recently, when Mrs. Elizabeth Sowders, an invalid who had not walked for thirty years, jumped from her invalid chair during a sermon and walked across the room. She was overjoyed at her sudden recovery.

The Union station at the foot of Seventh street, in Louisville, used by five railroads entering that city, was destroyed by fire last Thursday, entailing a loss of $400,000. It is probable that Louisville will now have one large union station for all passenger trains, if the work of the Commercial club amounts to anything.

Mrs. Josephine Hazelrigg, widow of John T. Hazelrigg, died at the home of her son, Clarence Hazelrigg, at Clay City, Thursday last, as the result of injuries sustained in an accident about two weeks ago. Her remains were taken to Mt. Sterling Saturday and placed beside those of her husband in Machpelah cemetery.

State aid in building good roads in Kentucky was the rallying cry at a meeting of the board of directors of the Kentucky Good Roads association recently held in Louisville. To secure state aid the association will labor for the success of the Bosworth-Wyatt good road amendment to the constitution, which will be before the voters of the state at the next November election.

While engaged in chopping down a tree, in Pendleton county, William Gillen miscalculated his efforts to "stand from under" and was struck by the falling tree, fracturing his skull. A trephining operation was necessary and two large pieces of bone were taken out. He was alone at the time of the accident and walked home. It is thought that he will get well.

Curt Jett, who is serving a life term in the penitentiary for the killing of James B. Marcum, and who says he has been converted to christianity, has made an exemplary prisoner and is said to be one of the best biblical scholars in the prison. Jett has written a story of his conversion in which he says God has pardoned him, and thinks that Governor Willson should do likewise.

Asbury College, at Wilmore, one of the largest Holiness schools in the United States, was destroyed by fire last week. The fire started from a defective flue in the music hall, which is a frame building, and spread quickly to the administration building, which was a large brick building, and both were completely destroyed. Loss about $40,000, with $22,000 insurance.

Two ladies of Winchester have each a bottle of wine in their possession that is nearly two hundred years old. This wine has been handed down from generation to generation, with the request that the seals of the bottles be not broken. Naturally this wine is a prized possession, and the only reason the ladies have for withholding their names from publication is the fear that some old toper will rob them of their cherished treasure.—Winchester Democrat.

RESCUING A CAPTIVE AND SAVING A HERD BY BUFFALO BILL

FROM "TRUE TALES OF THE PLAINS"

COPYRIGHT, 1908, BY WILLIAM F. CODY

JUNE 18, 1880, under General Emory's command, I was sent to hunt for a band of Indians who were, like the Irishman's men, here, there and at times everywhere.

Nebraska, Colorado and Kansas were all excited over the depredations of these renegades. They had murdered right and left, had captured several hundred mules and horses and destroyed wagon trains, as we could tell by the trail of some shod animals. What intensified our desire to punish or capture them was the fact that they had some white captives—Mrs. Alderice, whose husband and children they had killed, and Mrs. Weigel, whose husband and family had also been massacred, and these two women were known to be still alive and with them.

At last we got on their trail and had almost daily skirmishes, and General Carr decided to use some stratagem to see if we could not get them in a tight place. He consulted with me, and after a day of continual skirmishing and a night attack he ordered a retrograde movement, which created a good deal of discussion between the officers and men at the time. Apparently abandoning the pursuit, he retired as if going back to the fort, and in two or three days, as he surmised, the Indians were nowhere to be seen, having come to the conclusion that we were disheartened and that they could with impunity take a little repose themselves. This was exactly what our wily commander desired, as he intended to retrace his steps and catch them sleeping. So, being sure that there were no Indians in sight, he packed all the grub possible on the mules, burned the wagons and impediments and immediately started to make forced marches in their direction.

As I had surmised, they were heading for Summit Springs, a few miles south of the Platte river and among the sand hills, which formed a beautiful little oasis, as it were, for a camp ground. Striking their trail by judging from their daily campfires, we made in one day the same distance that they made in three, but when near the Springs, as we saw the trail getting fresher, we covered four of their day's journeys, with all their impediments and village outfit, in one day and landed at the opportune moment ready for business, while the enemy had been thrown off their guard and gave us an opening that resulted so gloriously that this battle is recognized as having been one of the most effective in the early breaking of the power of the red man on the plains.

In "Carr's Campaigns" General Carr writes:

"On Sunday, July 11, 1880, I was thinking of going to the river to water my horses when 'Buffalo Bill' came back and said: 'I have seen the village. It is over a ridge, away from the river valley.' We had not seen the trail for some time. They had followed an old custom of trailing along the ridge where we had dismounted to cross it and going over the high ground, so that any one following them would be visible from camp. Cody's idea was to get around, beyond and between them and the river. He changed horses quickly and went on, and I took to the gallop for several miles through the deep sand and got to the top of a sand hill or mound. Some Pawnees away off to the left on the bluff beckoned me, and I went. The Pawnees pointed over the ridge and said, 'Hoss, hoss.' I saw what looked like a band of ponies, but said, 'No, buffalo.' They said, 'No, no; hoss, hoss.' They took my glasses and looked and said, 'Yes, hoss.' I looked, and, sure enough, they were ponies grazing, and the camp no doubt was below. I permitted the Pawnees, as they were, to lead me and take of them. They were all in the uniforms, but to keep on their drawers, so as to be recognized as friendly. I had sent word to Colonel Royal, and he sent up Major Walker's company and came on with the rest. I placed the Pawnees on the left and two companies of the Fifth cavalry in the center and one of Captain Price's on the right. I told Major Eugene Crittenden to take command of the center and I would take the reserve and send up reinforcements as required.

"I shot him off his horse and got the animal."

"When we all got started I told the bugler behind me to sound the charge, and we were among the enemy before they had any idea that we were within a thousand miles. Then I heard the rattling of rifles on the right and left, plainly distinguishing the basso sound of 'Buffalo Bill's' trusty rifle, old 'Lucetta Borgin'."

"Buffalo Bill" got pretty well around the village when he went in on Captain Price's right. As he advanced he saw a chief on a horse charging about and haranguing his men. He and his party laid for him, and as he came nearer 'Buffalo Bill' shot him off his horse and got the animal. This was the celebrated race horse Tall Bull, which he (Cody) rode for a long time and with it won many exciting races. When he came into camp Mrs. Tall Bull said that it was her husband's horse, leaving no doubt about the fact that 'Buffalo Bill' had killed the chief.

"On this occasion the Indians had two white captives—Mrs. Alderice of Missouri, whom they killed during the fight, and Mrs. Weigel of Kansas, who had been shot in the back with a pistol bullet, which broke a rib, but was deflected and passed around and lodged below her left breast. Fifteen hundred dollars in gold, silver and greenbacks, which was gathered in the camp, was given her, and she went back, remarried and 'proved up' her claim. Next morning we dug a grave on a hill above the village and buried Mrs. Alderice, the surgeon reading the service."

"I detailed a board of officers to count the dead Indians, and notwithstanding that it is their custom to carry away the wounded and to hide or bury the dead we found sixty-eight dead bodies on the field."

As chief of scouts under General Phil Sheridan, I and the men were resting at Fort McPherson after a hazardous expedition and a long and successful chase. It was a quiet June evening, and we were enjoying refreshing breezes. A detail had left the fort to water the government herd of horses and mules in the nearby Platte river when shots were heard. Every one was on his feet in a moment, for it was learned that a party of Sioux Indians had dashed from the cottonwood trees, shooting, shouting and waving blankets, and had stampeded a herd of about 400 animals. The Indians had killed two of the herders and wounded another. Some of the herd ran for the corral, where they were accustomed to go for the night, but the Indians got away with about 200 and started for the bluffs south of the fort. All was excitement, but, as was my custom, I had my war horse, "Old Buckskin Joe," near at hand and was mounted in time to make a reconnaissance and note the direction in which the Indians had disappeared with the government stock.

General William H. Emory had his bugler sound the "boots and saddles," and by the time I returned for instructions five troops of cavalry were busy saddling up, getting their arms, ammunition and some supplies. One company—1, Fifth United States cavalry—were the first troops saddled and ready for the chase. Their officer, a young lieutenant by the name of Earl D. Thomas, now Brigadier General Thomas and in command of the department of Colorado, was just out from West Point, full of ambition and delighted to be in command in the absence of his superiors. General Emory and myself agreed on the necessity of quick action, and, to the delight of young Thomas, he was ordered with his troop to follow me, while the other troops as soon as ready would follow.

"Four right! Trot! Gallop!" And we dashed off. We followed at a gallop until dark, but did not get a sight of the Indians, and the tracks showed that they were whooping it up on the run. A halt was called to give the puffing horses a rest, and Thomas consulted me. His orders were to follow and recapture the animals. I told Thomas I could follow the trail at night if necessary and awaited his answer. "I will follow you, Mr. Cody, as I was told to do so, and I will go wherever you propose." After a short rest, "Mount and forward!" was the order, and the chase was continued. During the night the Indians repeatedly doubled on their trail. We did not reach Medicine creek, where we got water for men and horses, until 11 o'clock the next day.

The trail showed that the Indians were headed southwest, in the direction of Red Willow Springs. Knowing that there was no water between Medicine creek and the Red Willow, I was sure that the Indians would make a stop there, as it was many miles from there to the next water. We decided it was best to keep continuously on the job and as the Indians must make some stop to rest and eat we could overtake them. When the horses were rested, and as we had nothing on hand to eat to delay us and had had nothing since dinner the day before, our best possibility for a meal was to overtake the Indians, surprise them, whip them and capture what dried meat they had.

After leaving the creek the Indians began their old tricks in trying to hide their trail by devices well known to me, but I paid no attention to this, knowing what must be their next stopping place, and I was as familiar with that part of the country as they were. Straight on we kept to the Springs, except that occasionally we went out of the direct line to keep in low places between the sand hills so as not to be seen. At 9 o'clock that night we halted four miles from the Springs. Advising Thomas to allow the men to unsaddle and unbridle, letting each second man hold two horses by their halters, and so let them feed on the grass, changing the men every two hours so they could get some sleep, I disguised myself as an Indian and started off to locate the hostiles and be back in time so as to attack them at daylight. No fires were to be lighted, and all were

The one bullet went through both Indians. To be silent until my return. Before I left, half of the tired men of the little band were slumbering. One hour later I had seen the camp, just as I expected, in fancied security, believing that we could not be within a day's march of them.

Crawling back till I could hoof it on the run, I found the boys as I had left them. Quietly they were called to saddle up, instructions were given, men were detailed to pay particular attention to recapturing and rounding up the herd, and others were instructed as to the attack on the camp. I estimated the Indians to number about thirty, and there were forty-two of us. Ten were to creep up to the sleeping Indians on foot and be ready to work in open order. Twenty, besides the lieutenant and myself, were to charge on horseback. The rest were to bring up the remaining horses, attack the herd, and round up the entire herd. We attacked at break of day, and the whole scheme worked well. The tired lot were surprised when awakened to meet their foes. Nine of them were sent to sleep forever. Many had kept their war horses near them, and, hastily mounting, they escaped with several picked horses from our band. Among them was one of my favorite war horses, Powder Face, which one of them who probably knew him had appropriated for his own use.

As soon as the fight was over and I saw that we had captured some of their herd as well as our own I saw that Powder Face was not with them, but I recognized him half a mile away, his rider heading for the hills. This made me hot, and, knowing that the Indians would think others were following me, I dashed after them. Old Buckskin Joe soon began to gain, and I got near enough for a shot. My first shot killed the horse that an Indian was riding alongside of Powder Face, and his rider was soon up behind in the usual manner they try to save a warrior, riding backward, shooting at me with his revolver. Powder Face was as swift as Joe. Being in the rough sand hills and having a double weight to carry, Joe in a few minutes got me near enough for a good shot. I kept closing on them, as I did not want to hit my old friend Powder Face. When I thought it sure as I fired they were riding up over a mound I fired. The Indians fell, the one bullet going through both, and when Powder Face heard my voice he ran toward me whinnying, and, with two of the boys who had been ordered to follow close behind me by the lieutenant, we returned to the camp in high glee. They found a lot of dried buffalo and deer meat and some fresh antelope and deer, with accompanying pepper and salt and copious drafts of spring water, so a few minutes' rejoicing was had. A detail was quickly made up to bury the dead, and as we had but three slightly wounded and five horses knocked out the enthusiasm can hardly be described.
